

Graduate Research Student Representatives (School Level)

The Graduate Research Student Representative (School Level) role has a strong community and operational focus, acting as a key voice for graduate research students within their school. Representatives provide valuable feedback on student experience and priorities, while also sharing important information from AUGRS with their peers. They support the promotion and coordination of student initiatives and contribute the graduate research student perspective in committee settings, helping to ensure student voices are heard in decision-making processes.
